

FOXES

Do not feed the foxes.

Beautiful as they are, they are wild animals and are very capable of finding their own food. We do them no favours by feeding them.

We experienced quite the population explosion last year. They caused a lot of damage by digging in beds, under sheds and the perimeter fence, damaging and destroying crops, stealing a handbag, defecating, and engaging in other destructive behaviour.

Leaving food out for the foxes encourages mice and rat infestations; encouraging vermin onto our site is not acceptable.

If you wish to feed foxes, do it at home, not at the allotment.
